ZULU LADIES ARE TO SMASH MIDDLE PAROLE IS GRANTED DETERMINED TO MAN IS THEIR FRIENDLESS MAN HAVE VOTES OBJECT

Nothing Else Will Satisfy Them, According to Missionary Who Has Spent Eight Years Among Them.

Los Angeles, Oct. 4.—The women question has spread to Zululand. The Zulu women of Natal, Africa, one of the most uncivilized peoples on the face of the earth, have rebelled against some of their time honored customs and are demanding their rights. They refuse to carry bundles for the men any longer.

Miss Margaret Nickel of Monroe, who spent eight years among the Zulus doing missionary work, says that they are rapidly becoming civilized and Christianized, and that with this new civilization Zululand is being turned over to them.

"In times past, it has been the custom of the Zulu women to do most of the work," said Miss Nickel. "They carried their bundles on their heads and their children on their backs, and whenever they happened to occupy a seat where a man was standing there, they would get up and resign the seat. But now, customs are changing."

Never Handle Money.

The Zulu women have never been allowed to handle their money. They are guided by their husbands, in all things, and when they become widows the eldest son does the managing. With time and Christian civilization this will be changed.

How a Zulu Woman Looks. Miss Nickel, during her eight years in Zululand, learned the languages of natives. The following is one of their religious hymns:

Nan ang i bona umusindisi
Ela yasipanawedzi,
Ngi f lathe pink imfuyo
Nake nkudzidhi kwam."

Translated, it means that when the Zulu beheld his Saviour dying on the cross, he cast away his riches and all his pride.

Miss Nickel delivered an address on the customs of the Zulus last night at the First Free Methodist church, 608 East Sixth street. She will leave within a few weeks to again take up her work among the Zulus.

NEW THROUGH SERVICE.

The Santa Fe will start its proposed through passenger service between San Francisco and Los Angeles November 1. For more than a year past the company has been perfecting its tracks so as to enable it in a degree to overcome a handicap of 131 miles with the Southern Pacific, which operates through trains by way of the coast line and through the San Joaquin valley. The Santa Fe trains will leave Los Angeles and San Francisco at 4 p.m. and arrive at the opposite terminal at 8:45 o'clock the next morning. No effort has been spared by the Santa Fe management to furnish the newest and best equipment for the service. The Santa Fe has never operated through trains between San Francisco and Los Angeles, passengers to and from these points transferring at Barstow.

GOT RELIGION, AND TORE EYE OUT

Youth Obeys Scriptural Injunction to Pluck Out Offending Optics, and Will Lose Sight As Consequence.

Flagstaff, Ariz., Oct. 4.—Hellion manifests itself in many forms, but probably in none stranger than that of self-mutilation for real or fancied reasons. An astonishing case has lately presented itself here.

Paul, the 26-year-old son of J. L. Dillon, for several years a resident of Phoenix, has got himself called to religious work. Pursuant to it, he went directly to Flagstaff to join the Salvation Army there.

He call, however, was of such a nature, it is said, that in reading the passage, "If thine eye offend thee, pluck it out," he conceived that it applied to his eyes, which had been troubling him for some time, and he attempted to follow the injunction literally, after he reached Flagstaff. He put one eye out in an attempt to gouge it from his head.

His father sent him transportation to come home with, asking the authorities at Flagstaff to put him on the train.

PAROLE IS GRANTED MAN IS THEIR FRIENDLESS MAN

Man Who Had Served Fourteen Years in Kansas Penitentiary and Had Given Up Hope Is Set Free.

Topeka, Oct. 4.—Governor Shadis has granted a parole to John Dodd, the "man without a friend" who has been in the Kansas penitentiary fourteen years. Dodd is now in the southwest to begin life anew on a farm, and if he makes good he may expect a full pardon before Governor Stubbs leaves office.

Dodd, a white man, killed two negroes in Kansas City, Kan., fifteen years ago. He rented a house from George H. Eastman. Dodd and his landlord did not agree and when Dodd returned from a trip to Southern Kansas to look at some land he found two negroes in the house. Both were armed and warned him not to enter. Dodd, a Konkolew, had all the peculiarities of the Zulu against the negro and became intensely angry when black men refused him admission to his own home.

Dodd went away, borrowed a double-barreled shotgun and killed the two negroes. Dodd was sent to prison under a sentence of murder in the first degree, which meant life imprisonment. From the day he entered the prison walls Dodd apparently was entirely forgotten by every one. For thirteen years he did not receive a letter or note or a gift of any kind from any person outside the prison walls.

Dodd was hopeful for several years of hearing from some of his friends but when he did not all sentiment died within him. He worked in the prison coal mine and one of the jobs assigned to him was to keep the face of a wall smooth and bright. Dodd refused to do the work.

"Let those who have sentiment do that sort of thing," he said. "I have none. It died within me when I was forgotten in prison."
